

Privacy Notice

IDIS - Institute for the Development of Social Investment ("IDIS"), registered under CNPJ No. 03.483.859/0001-97, has the mission of supporting private social investment to reduce social inequality in Brazil. To address these challenges, IDIS considers it essential to respect the privacy and protect the data of people who have a direct or indirect relationship with the organization.

To strengthen trust and transparency in our relationship, we present this Privacy Notice ("Notice"), which explains how we process your personal data in our activities.

Please note that this Notice may be amended at any time; therefore, we recommend that you review it periodically. If you wish to contact IDIS regarding the processing of personal data, you may contact our Data Protection Officer, Marcelo Destito, at mdestito@idis.org.br.

1. What Personal Data Is Collected?

It is important to clarify that, for purposes of the Brazilian General Data Protection Law (Law No. 13,709/2018, or LGPD), in general, "personal data" means any information that identifies or can identify a natural person<sup>1</sup>.

IDIS may process personal data in different ways, whether through the website or in connection with the performance of its activities, as described below.

A. Through the website

When you access the website, several types of information are collected, such as browsing data, the device used, operating system, location, and other information. In addition, other types of information are collected that are considered personal data under the LGPD.

IDIS provides on its website ways for people who support its activities to interact with the organization, involving personal data flows that may occur in the following ways:

| Form of Interaction / Purpose              | Data <sup>2</sup>                     | Legal Basis |
|--------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|-------------|
| Sending social communications (Newsletter) | Name, email address, and organization | Consent     |
| Contacting IDIS                            | Email address and telephone number    | Consent     |
| Accessing published materials              | Email address, name, and organization | Consent     |

In addition to these direct interactions with IDIS, personal data may also be processed through third parties engaged by IDIS, as set out below:

| Purpose                   | Data <sup>3</sup>                                   | Third Party | Legal Basis               |
|---------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------|
| Brazil Giving Research    | Name, email address, and organization               | Ipsos       | Consent                   |
| Making a Donation to IDIS | CPF, email address, name, address, and card details | PayPal      | Performance of a Contract |

<sup>1</sup>In addition to the concept of "personal data," if you have any questions while reading this Notice, we recommend consulting the list of concepts provided in Article 5 of the LGPD.

<sup>3</sup>These personal data are provided by you to the third parties indicated and may be accessed by IDIS.

B. Through IDIS activities

During the performance of IDIS activities, the following personal data of clients and/or partners may be processed: name, email address, telephone number, name of the company/organization to which the person belongs, and job title.

IDIS may obtain access to these personal data directly from you or through third parties. Access may also occur through websites, social networks, platforms, and other sources where such information is already publicly available.

IDIS seeks to collect only the data necessary to fulfill its social objectives, as well as to optimize your interaction with us, comply with legal obligations, and keep you informed about our activities.

2. How Long Do We Process Your Personal Data?

We will retain your personal data for as long as necessary or relevant to achieve the purposes for which they were collected, as well as to provide the website's functionalities and ensure transparency of our activities to society, as permitted by applicable law, and to resolve disputes and comply with contracts and legal obligations.

3. With Whom Do We Share Your Personal Data?

To fulfill its mission, IDIS may share your personal data with public authorities (pursuant to a legal requirement, request, requisition, or court order) and partner institutions (such as organizations and companies) with which IDIS interacts.

In the case of partner institutions, your data will always be processed in compliance with the provisions of the LGPD, especially the principle of necessity, in a manner compatible with the purpose(s) for which they were collected, and always on a valid legal basis. For example, information may be shared with IDIS's press office.

For internal activities, we use various tools, including Microsoft and Google tools.

4. About Cookies

Cookies are text files sent by our website to the user's computer while you browse our website. They may store different types of information, not all of which will be considered personal data, and may provide us with information about your browser or device, or your interests, in order to provide a better experience on our website.

The following cookies are used on the IDIS website:

- Necessary: these support the website's functionality; without them, the website cannot function properly. We collect these cookies based on the legal basis of legitimate interest, and they cannot be disabled in the system. However, you may disable them in your browser (at the risk of impairing website performance);
- Statistical: anonymous data are processed through these cookies, which are used to understand how users interact with the website. These cookies are disabled by default and depend on the data subject's consent to be collected;
- Marketing: these are used to understand user engagement on the website and to display personalized third-party content. These cookies are disabled by default and depend on the data subject's consent to be collected;
- Unclassified types: there are also unclassified cookie types that send information outside Brazil.

If you wish, you may disable some or all cookies; however, this may compromise or impair your browsing experience on the IDIS website.

IDIS requires these third parties to maintain an adequate level of security and compliance in the processing of data, in accordance with applicable Brazilian law and this Privacy Notice, as well as to adopt appropriate standard contractual clauses in our contracts for this purpose.

6. Personal Data Security

IDIS undertakes to adopt appropriate technical and administrative measures to ensure the confidentiality and protection of personal data in our work environment. This includes preventing unauthorized access and protecting against improper destruction, loss, alteration, or disclosure of data.

7. Data Subject Rights

As a personal data subject, you have the right to obtain, at any time and upon formal request, further information regarding the processing of your personal data.

If you wish to access, review, change, or delete your personal data, or if you have questions about the processing of your information or about this Privacy Policy, please contact our Data Protection Officer, Marcelo Destito, at mdestito@idis.org.br.

You may also choose to stop receiving marketing emails or communications from IDIS at any time by contacting us through the email address of our Data Protection Officer or directly at comunicacao@idis.org.br.

IDIS will use its best efforts to adopt the necessary measures within the timeframes indicated in the LGPD and other applicable rules. Requests will be analyzed as provided under the data protection legislation in force and, for legal reasons, some requests may not be fulfilled; in such cases, we will inform you of the reason. For example, IDIS will not be able to fulfill a request to delete your personal data when retaining the data is necessary for the performance of a contract or to comply with a legal or regulatory obligation.

8. Final Provisions

IDIS reserves the right to amend this Privacy Notice at any time, without prior notice to data subjects. It is therefore your responsibility to remain attentive to possible updates, which will be made immediately available on IDIS's official website, and any amendments will take effect on the date of publication.

This Notice shall be governed, interpreted, and enforced in accordance with the laws of the Federative Republic of Brazil, especially the LGPD (Law No. 13,709/2018), regardless of the laws of other states or countries. The Central Court of the Judicial District of São Paulo/SP shall have jurisdiction to resolve any questions arising from this document.
